“ Barry, I am truly heartbroken to know that I can't walk up to see you today. Although we are first cousins, I have always thought of you as my best brother! We couldn't have been any closer in my heart. We grew up together right here on Blue Ridge Drive and we had the greatest childhood and the greatest memories any kid could have ever had. We were lucky to have such a great family and THE BEST GRANDPARENTS ever! Recently when we talked about all those fun times....you would smile...and we would laugh. I am so glad you walked down to see what we were up to on the last beautiful Saturday you would know on this earth. You said you wanted to stretch your legs for a bit and you sit and talked while I painted my props for my school program. We talked about your new hobby...air brushing...and mixing colors! You fought a brave fight and never gave up in the hopes you could go fishing again this summer. We had even made plans to get me on a camping trip with you and Megan. You know how much I loved you. I am so sad that we didn't have more time together. Don't worry about your Mom, you know we will always take care of her. Kevin and I count it as an honor and privilege that we were able to help you during these final months living next door to you. I am thankful that today you are healed and walking in perfect peace in heaven with our Lord. I'm sure there was quite a reunion with your brother Brian, your daughter Natalie and MaMa and PaPa Ragan. Go find those heavenly fishing lakes and camping spots. We will meet again and you will give me the grand tour! I am sad and I will miss you my brother but my heart will choose to rejoice for you today! I will never forget the journey. All my love, Sherry

I had the privilege of meeting Barry at ISG. The last time I saw him he had just completed a chemo treatment and was struggling to get through the day, but he still volunteered to set up my printer that afternoon, which he did. He was such a good guy and will be greatly missed. Such a comfort to know he is united with his family that went before him. God bless his family and friends.
