“ We wish we could have made it for Charles' funeral. We were able to visit him a number of time over the past few months. He was always witty, conversational and concerned about God and his family. I remember him asking me to read the portions from Scripture that had to do with being with Christ when absent from the body. I'm glad our family could share with him in his last days on earth. May God comfort your family in the knowledge that Charles no longer walks hunched over, but runs in freedom and peace.##imported-begin##Brandon Smith##imported-end##
