“ So sorry for the loss of your son Chris.
I read somewhere that you had mended your fences recently and I am so glad to learn you had this opportunity. My son and I have had a difficult time and we are still trying to come to grips with our differences. Time on this earth is very precious and we need to make the best of each day. My prayers and thoughts are with you and Glenda.##imported-begin##Ron Harris##imported-end##

“ John and Glenda,
I grew up on Heilig Avenue in Salisbury and went to school with both of you. My heart goes out to you both and this time, although I really can't imagine what it is like to lose a son. I have two sons, and have been very lucky with both staying safe and sound throughout life. Just know that thoughts and prayers of those that have known you can give you strength. I believe that God doesn't give you more than you can carry, but it seems He does load your wagon pretty heavy sometimes. Faith and love will help you get through this.###imported-begin##Jim Arey###imported-end##

“ Dear Mr. & Mrs. Cavanaugh,
I was just sitting here with my Mom, Nancy, and coming to realize the generational relationship at work here.
I am so sorry for your loss. I have known Chris about three or four years now. As everyone before me attest, he just had that great smile and personality. Chris was one of those that could just brighten a room. He will be greatly missed and long remembered. Our deepest condolences.###imported-begin##Tom Spearman###imported-end##

“ My Dear Friend,
You have left this world a better place than when you entered it - because of your kindness.

You have left your coworkers with the ability to always do their best- because of your determination to always do the right thing and keep on trying.

You have left those of us who call you friend with an emptiness in our hearts that only you can fill - because of smile, your laughter and your compassion.

You have left this world- because God has a plan

But... you have left all of us with the peace to know we will be with you again in Eternity - because you believed!

Until we meet again.
