“ Cindy, Rick and Abby I am so sorry for you loss! I am really having a hard time finding the right words and I'm sure there really aren't any "right" words to say right now. Our hearts are very saddened right now. I may not have known Jason long but I will always cherish the memories. I remember him playing tic tac toe with the girls at the lodge and them wanting their picture with him! Rest in peace Jason!

I hold my memories of you close to my heart.
My loving brother, thank you for always supporting me and being there when I needed someone to talk to about anything.

“ Jason Roth. I did not know you long young man, but the young man I met has left a lasting impression on my heart. I loved our long talks, and am sorry that we will never be able to share those talks again. I hope that you find comfort in knowing that you will no longer have to worry about anything. You are safe now, and nothing can ever harm you again. You, my friend, will be missed but never forgotten. How could we forget that wonderful smile of yours, your personality, your jokes, your seriousness, and your kindness. I was proud to know you, Jason. Thank you for watching over my son in Afghanistan and thank you for being a part of us. Rest easy, Marine. You will always be a hero as far as this family is concerned, and Lenny and I will remember you fondly. I will miss not having you visit us next March, as you had planned, but one thing is for certain, come March, Lenny and I will have a shot of the Jack Daniels that you left in the freezer. I was saving it for your visit and I wanted to see the look on your face when you saw I had saved it for you, but we will pour a shot for you, and Lenny and I will toast everything you were and the memories you left with us. I expect you to be right there with us, and I believe that you will be. Miss you more than you know. We will keep your family in our prayers and we hope that they will all stay strong and have the strength necessary to get through this loss. Be good my young friend.

“ My thoughts and prayers go out to the family of Jason. I only knew him a short while, as he worked for me this summer doing landscaping. He was a part of our family none the less and made me laugh daily. I am sad that he could not overcome the demons that haunted him on a daily basis, but let us remember: "Death leaves a heartache no one can heal, love leaves a memory no one can steal".- From a headstone in Ireland

“ Oh sweet child of mine, I woke this morning not really sure what to do. Everything is so different, in a blink your whole world can just change, time seems to stand still. So many things left to say, places to see and people to meet. You had so much pain and torment, yet you gave me more love and smiles. I wish I could have seen that they were blurred lines. You did not want us to know your torment, it was more than you could bare and you would not want us to share your demons. Well sweet baby, I believe that Jesus took you to heaven and is showing you love, peace and comfort that you would not have been able to see here. I love you so much, I miss you, I look forward to your gigantic hug when I get to heaven.

“ We are sad to hear this has happened. We only wish we could have gotten to Jason sooner to share our story of hope. Many veterans suffer from PTSD but many learn how to cope and help others who are feeling the same way. We thank Jason for his service and sacrifice. His family will be in our prayers as they now must make sense of what has happened. We are here for anyone that needs help. Please contact info@hiddenwounds.org if we can be of any assistance.
