“ One of my very best friends for 16 years. We started off as co-workers, then fishing buddies, and became very close friends. She was not just funny, but hilarious. We saw each other through some dark times. We had a lot of fun together.

Kayla, I love you, and will always miss you. The only part of this that gets me through is knowing you are no longer suffering. You never deserved to suffer like that at all. I will never forget our last conversation in person. I will never forget you. You were always a great friend. One of the best.
