“ It's been over three years since we all lost Malcolm. In the many years I worked with him, I never stopped thanking God for sending him our way. Malcolm never seemed to be in a bad mood, his smile was never far away. To him a problem was a challenge or a minor inconvenience. He never let anything stand in the way of doing his job to perfection. He could fix or build absolutely anything he put his hand to, and if something started making a noise it shouldn't make, people were in the habit of calling, "Malcolm, help!" Most of all, the thing we remember about Malcolm is that he was such a truly good man, and I can't say that about too many people I know. We adopted Malcolm's four beloved cats after he passed away. The oldest one died not long afterward. A second cat turned out to have a serious illness and died a few months later. We still have the remaining two, and I find myself wondering if Malcolm would approve of how we are caring for his "children." He never let us down, and we want to make sure we do it right. We miss you Malcolm.

“ I will miss your laughter at work and on the golf course. Was looking forward to springtime so we could sneak off early from time to time for a round of 18 holes. You will be greatly missed.

“ I worked with Malcolm at Faith Printing Company for many years. He was always friendly and tried to help in any way that he could. I could always count on Malcolm to answer any questions or help with any problems that I had. Even though I haven't seen him in a while, I will miss him and his sweet smile. I am so sorry to hear of this. I still loved him as if he was still my brother-in-law. I stopped by his house every time I seen him out in the yard just to say hello. He will be missed very much.

Malcolm was a jewel in disguise. As a fellow co-worker, his ability in printing was amazing. He always had a smile on his face and would get things done for all of us in record time. He loved his "Gamecocks" and playing golf. I will miss him so much. My prayers and thoughts are with all of his family.
