“ I was sorry to hear about Max's death , I had been planning a visit for awhile ( I did not know he was ill ),But kelp putting it off. I knew Max from the early 50's ,before he married .He was a good man .I never saw him again until one day, late 80's ,he stopped by my business (by accident ) he didn't recognize me ,but did him. I gave him a set of hubcaps for his Coke trailer.I told him who I was. As a kid ,I hoped he would become my Stepdad-- but that didn't work out . He was a family man and loved you very much-- cherish the love he shared with you while he was here ,and think on the happy times, don't be sad, Share his love among your family each day##imported-begin##Larry Smith##imported-end##
