“ I'll always remember Scott as a man of many talents. His contagious laughter, addictive personality, quick wit, and unquestionable love for God and family are traits that made him such a wonderful man.

Scott was always willing to lend a helping hand, had a blind trusting faith in his friends, and was one of the few men you hear people talking about during private conversations that would take their shirt off their own back to help someone. He was a true gem and I'm proud to call him my respected friend. I envied his passion for his children, and knew that was his ultimate pride from our many conversations since we shared the same strife, fights, and obstacles to secure the lives and happiness of our children. We also shared the same distain for the DMV, so thankfully his online updates and hilarious sense of humor kept us all content with dealing with each coming day. Scott and Jess were instrumental in giving my bride the most wonderful day of her life by turning a warm spring day into a private surprise wedding for which she has always coveted. I relive that day often and always remember good times when we were all together...well, good times except for being drenched by rain in a topless Jeep out in the middle of a random North Carolina highway. I know Scott and Jess got a good laugh at our expense, but these are the wonderful times I remember with Scott. He was a competitive poker player and always aggressively beat us like a drum. The laughs we shared, the stories we told, the memories we made, will always be cherished. You were a true friend and a wonderful father. My only regret is letting life and unfortunate circumstance govern my time. I wish we had more time to experience our friendship. I know you're up there laughing at me and telling a quick-witted joke as you pass by St. Peter, but know that you will be truly missed until we meet again, my brother. 🙏

“ 28 years of friendship Lord knows we had our differences you being a Washington fan vs me being a Cowboy fan, our differences in political view Still remember the M Snyder days buying cars from you like it was yesterday. My friend who I could never replace like the hurt in my heart that your no longer here with us. I know God has the final say but this one hurts. You were a Great father watching how you handle North and those girls cheering. I'm going to miss you, my guy. RIP until we meet again.

“ We shared some good times together and of course there were some rough times as well but no matter the circumstances, you always made the best of whatever it was. I never had the chance to tell you how much I respected you as a friend and especially as a father. We shared some great times together and of course we had our differences as well, but I always thought of you as a brother. Watching your children grow over the years and seeing how much love you gave them was so inspiring. You made a difference in so many lives, including mine and I wish I could have one more chance to tell you how grateful I was for our friendship. You will always be missed and remembered. I'll always cherish the memories that we shared, especially the ones that felt like we were flying too close to the sun. You were a brother and a friend like no other. I'll never forget you and will always cherish the memories of our adventures together.

Love you brother,
G. McCarson

“ Scott, you was my Ex- Son in law, but you didn't treat me that way. I know we had one big disagreement, however, if I knew then what I know now, it would have never happened. You were the best father to my granddaughters and loved them more than they will ever know. You were my friend. You sent me dozens of pictures of the girls, and even had some framed and mailed to me. You were a man with lots of forgiveness in your heart, and so much love to everyone you knew. Always a big smile and a joke to tell. You've made me laugh so hard, and cheered me up, so many times, and I appreciated it. You loved Jessica, she was the love of your life. She helped by getting you started to Church and after you did, you loved it. I was so proud of that. I know you're in Heaven with all your loved ones and friends that have gone on before you. I can just see your big smile when you entered the gates and saw the face of Jesus! You are missed here on earth by so, so many, but we'll see you soon.

My thoughts and prayers are with you, Jessica, as well as all the children, family and friends.

“ Scott, you were the most loving Dad I ever knew. I once questioned you, if you knew what causes the conception of a baby, you laughed and said you love kids! You sure did! You always helped me, Always! What you did for my Dad at a time when everyone, I mean everyone, who he called friends forgot about him! he couldn't drive anymore, you just kept telling me that you wanted to stop by and pick him up and bring him to your carlot, so he could still feel like he was in the car business, and see people and enjoy his last days on the earth. Other People my dad had done business with and called friend never did. Scott I'm crying now and I cried when my Dad past when we spoke, I meant what I said then and I mean it now, you were the most selfless caring person I have ever known. Your act of kindness kept him alive that last year and happy. Scott I can't say I could have done that if the tables had been turned. You were a true friend, and I will always be in your debt!
